Larry and Eileen Brodbar Lifetime Achievement recipients

“Risky Broad, who is a daughter of Jay Bees Risk, is currently our broodmare,” Brodbar noted.

One of Eileen’s major contributions to the sport came at Los Alamitos in the 80’s and early 90’s when she was responsible for Clocker’s Corner, which educated people about harness racing with drivers, trainers and handicappers on scene to make it a well-rounded and educational experience.

“I’m very proud of the what we were able to accomplish with those seminars,” she stated.

Said CHHA Hall of Fame Committee Chairman Robin Clements, “The Brodbars have stuck with California through the good and the bad times and they still support and love the sport.”

Cal Expo congratulates Larry and Eileen Brodbar on this well-deserved recognition.

The Year It All Began

by Steve Haskin

The New York newspapers couldn't get enough of The Prince. All the while, the foreboding presence of Arts and Letters was lurking in the background. In the back of everyone's mind, they knew that it was Arts and Letters, a son of Ribot, who would be the one who relished the 1 1/2 miles of the Belmont.

Racing fans, like those recently, wondered if any horse would ever sweep the Triple Crown following the failures of Derby/Preakness winners Carry Back ('61), Northern Dancer ('64), Kauai King ('66), and Forward Pass (who was awarded the '68 Derby after the Butazolidin positive and subsequent disqualification of Dancer's Image).

But The Prince was different. This was to be a horse for the ages. Longden, however, felt the colt wasn't 100% and was beginning to feel the effects of the Triple Crown. Shortly after the Preakness, he shocked everyone by announcing that Majestic Prince might not run in the Belmont. The news filled the entire back page of the New York tabloids. McMahon backed his trainer, but the pressure to run became too intense and several days before the race, he announced The Prince would run, especially after a Sports Illustrated article suggested he was ducking Arts and Letters. Longden was incensed that McMahon had overruled him and the two could be heard in a shouting match at the barn. But the universal thinking was, no Derby and Preakness winner skips the Belmont unless he has a serious injury. That's like making it to the gates of the pantheon and deciding you've gone far enough.

A week before the Belmont, however, the mood began to change after Arts and Letters defeated older horses, including champion Nodouble, in the Metropolitan Handicap, drawing away to a 2 1/2-length victory in a blazing 1:34 for the mile over a dead track under Jean Cruguet, substituting for Baeza, who had the call on Ogden Phipps' Vitriolic. Arts and Letters had come from 10th in an 11-horse field, closing his final quarter in a spectacular :23 1/5.

Arts and Letters' trainer, Elliott Burch, had used the Met Mile as a steppingstone to a Belmont victory twice before, with Sword Dancer and Quadrangle, both of who also competed in the Derby and Preakness.

Burch was amazed at the little colt's resiliency (he stood just over 15.1 hands) and his ability to bounce back off tough races. You don't see horses explode like that in the Met Mile against top older horses having just run two grueling races in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

Only 5 days after his victory, Arts and Letters blew out a blistering half-mile (two days before the Belmont), galloping out five furlongs in an unheard of :57 3/5, pulling up six furlongs in 1:11. Repeat, 2 days before the mile-and-a-half Belmont. Majestic Prince worked two hours later and galloped out his five furlongs in :59. Burch had no misgivings about the tough schedule, insisting Arts and Letters had an uncanny ability to "train himself" and relax when his work was done. "He was a remarkable horse from day one; the best I ever trained,"

So now it was the Rokeby Stable colt who began to command the headlines. Support for Arts and Letters had grown since the Met Mile, and predictions of The Prince's downfall were rampant. With Longden still not having declared the colt a definite starter, a headline in the New York Post read: "Majestic Prince Scared Off by Arts and Letters?"

Race 5 News

Security tightened around Majestic Prince's barn and tension began to build. It was an odd sight seeing assistant trainer Mike Bao, wearing his customary love beads, threaten physical ejection to a DRF columnist, to whom Longden had taken exception. Then there was Bill Hartack, who treated reporters as if they had leprosy. The night before the Belmont, Hartack appeared on the "Dick Cavett Show" and aired his gripes and dislike of the media, much to the delight of Cavett and his audience.

Meanwhile, Arts and Letters was his usual placid self, showing no ill effects of his grueling 3-year-old campaign, which saw him run nine times already, eight of them in major stakes. When a news wire photographer walked in the barn and sheepishly asked Burch if he could take a couple of head shots of the colt in his stall, Burch replied, "Sure, go ahead, but you may have to wake him up to do it."

A record Belmont Stakes crowd of 66,115 turned out to see if this time history would be made. But the Belmont turned out to be an oddly run race. The early pace was so slow the late-running Dike went for the lead going into the clubhouse turn, much to the shock of the crowd. Baeza and Arts and Letters were right on his heels, but Hartack elected to keep Majestic Prince three to four lengths back through an agonizingly slow three-quarters in 1:16 1/5. When Baeza gunned Arts and Letters to the front nearing the final turn, the race was all but over. The colt drew off to win by 5 1/2 lengths, closing his final quarter in :24 2/5, with Majestic Prince finishing second, never to race again.

"He had a check ligament going into the Belmont that was just not right," Longden said years later. "It wasn't real bad, but the horse wasn't 100%. I was looking forward to racing him as a 4-year-old and I thought it was tough asking him to go a mile and a half when he was not 100%."

Majestic Prince, after spending the rest of the year at Longden's ranch in Arcadia, Calif., was retired to stud the following winter as a result of the check ligament. After siring numerous top-class stakes winners, including Belmont Stakes winner Coastal and grade 1 winners Majestic Light, Sensitive Prince, and Eternal Prince, he died of a heart attack at Spendthrift Farm in 1981 at the young age of 15. In 1988, he was inducted into the Hall of Fame. The vision of him, with his Adonis-like frame, glistening red chestnut coat, and bounding stride will never be forgotten. In 1971, he became the first Eclipse Award-winning Horse of the Year and was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1986. Among his best offspring was the multi-millionaire and champion sire Broad Brush and French Derby winner Youth. He also was buried at Claiborne Farm following his death in 1990 at age 24.

Top Knight's life took a totally different turn. He disappeared into obscurity after proving infertile. Brought back to the races three years later, the one-time champion raced until he was 9, competing in cheap allowance races at tiny Narragansett Park and Lincoln Downs in Rhode Island. He did manage one victory as a 9-year-old, winning by seven lengths at Lincoln Downs, but lost his next six races. He was retired for good with a hoof infection, losing the bottom half of his foot, which took a year and a half to grow back. He lived out the rest of his years at a small farm near Rehobeth, Mass. in the company of donkeys, mules, and ponies. According to his owners at the time, Charlotte and Edward Pritchard, who would take in old run-down horses and find them a home, he was "having a picnic". With the wonderfully smooth, rhythmic strides that often distinguish the great horses from the good ones, Arts and Letters began eating up his field. News Nodouble and Verbatim, in the Woodward Stakes, and won under a hand ride by two lengths to nail down Horse of the Year. Nodouble tried him again in the two-mile Jockey Club Gold Cup, but Arts and Letters turned the marathon into a procession. He won with ridiculous ease by 14 lengths, concluding his campaign with six consecutive major stakes victories. He had run from January to October, racing at least once in every month with the exception of July.

The following year, after a shocking defeat under 130 pounds in the Westchester Handicap (a lot of weight that early in the year, especially for such a small horse), he unleashed an explosive and desperate stretch run to win the Grey Lag Handicap under 128 pounds. Burch and Mellon then stunned everyone by announcing that the champ was being pointed for the Grand Prix de Saint-Cloud in France. But a bowed tendon suffered in the Californian Stakes ended his career.

Arts and Letters was retired to Greentree Stud, where he sired Preakness winner Codex. He became buddies with 1968 Belmont winner Stage Door Johnny and the two stallions would remain close friends for the next 26 years until Stage Door Johnny's death in 1996 at age 31. In their younger days, they would race each other along the fence every day,

POORLITTLERICHGIRL

Out with cover near half, surged 3wide late final bend, urged, away. Stays in for 4k tag. Deserves top billing.

DOUBLE MYSTERY

Rode cones, asked to keep up far turn, driven to narrow gap. Minor post relief noted.

NUTMEGS DESIRE

Parked turn, yielded, tracked to lane, cleared, urged, fair. Entered for 4k tonight. Firing out?

SHEZ A SWIFT

Reserved to far turn, loose cover to lane, urged, surged, away late. Segues to distaff claiming class. Dean returns.

C.H.R.B. BREAKING RULES

1722. Breaking. Should any horse break from its gait in either trotting or pacing, the driver shall:

(a) Where clearance exists, take such horse to the outside.

(b) Attempt to pull the horse to its gait.

(c) Lose ground.

1723. Lapped-on Break. The driver of a horse which has broken from its gait who has complied with the breaking rule shall not be set back unless a contending horse on his gait is lapped on the hind quarter of the breaking horse at the finish.

putting on the brakes just before reaching the gate, kicking up a cloud of dirt. They would quickly look over at each other as if to see who won, then walk back up the hill and come charging back down. Each one would become visibly upset when the other was led to the breeding shed.

When they became too old to race they would stand under the same shade tree that separated their paddocks and just keep each other company.

They had become so close that when Gainesway Farm took over the Greentree property in 1989, part of the agreement was that both stallions remain together in adjoining paddocks. When Stage Door Johnny died in 1996, he turned over his title as the oldest living Belmont winner to Arts and Letters, who held it until his death two years later at age 32. Arts and Letters was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1994.

The class of '69 has now faded into memory, recalling one of the most passionate and volatile eras in American history. Somewhere in its time capsule are two special Thoroughbreds and a magnificent supporting cast who helped elevate their sport to another level and one person to a life he once could only dream of from afar.

THATS HOW IT GOES

Sat in to far turn, took out late in bend, urged, fair close near wire. Tighter now? Much better post.

CARRO SPARKS

Settled in early, easy trip to the str, urged only fair. Another favorable draw. Shares?

CENALTA GLORY

Away to tuck, out midfar turn, soon covered, urged late to get up. Extra week off. Pretty good spot.

PECAN

Rode cones the whole trip, urged in lane, just a mild rally. Post relief. Undercard?

TWIN B DELIGHTFUL

Left to drop, tripped to 3/4s, angled out, urged to hold. Will she fire out again?

BIG RIVER

Gapped early, failed to get into it. Seems like a longshot.

SUN BEAU TOUGHIE

Sped from gate, brushed back, shook off parked full foe, attacked by winner 3/4s, held okay considering. A gimmick must.

MOHENO

Slow in debut, angled wide into lane, failed to advance. Moves outside. Tough spot.

RUGGED HONOR

Left on the float, parked full, first over. Luke returns. Wouldn't be surprised to see him leaving.
