McWicked seeks consecutive championship seasons

by Kimberly French

On Nov. 24, 2018, McWicked and pilot Brian Sears rolled home with a final quarter panel of :26.2 in the $350,000 TVG Open Pace final at The Meadowlands to collect the 7-year-old stallion's fifth consecutive victory on the year. Trained by Casie Coleman and owned by Ed James' S S G Stables, the son of McArdle - Western Sahara ended the season as the sport's highest-ranked horse in the Hambletonian Society/Breeders Crown poll. Immediately after the race, the speculation commenced on whether that performance would be his swan song.

"He was a little bit fat, but he finished out the season so strong, I almost wished there were more stakes to run in," Coleman said. "All season long, stud farms kept coming up to me at the track or calling me about standing him. There were six different farms competing to get him. I kept telling them it wasn't my decision to make and it was up to Ed. I honestly don't think he called one of them back and did not have any intention of retiring him. You would make more money breeding him than racing him in stakes next year. But Ed's not worried about the money; he just wants to see his horse race."

After his winter vacation at Anvil And Lace Farm in Cynthiana, Ky., McWicked, Canada's newly crowned Horse of the Year and champion older pacer traveled to Florida, where he is preparing for his 2019 campaign under the watchful eye of Jim McDonald.

In his first season of racing, McWicked was owned by Andy Miller Stable Inc., Paymaq Racing and Hannah Miller. Trained by Julie Miller, the then colt showed promise as he compiled a record of 10-3-5-1 and earned $179,617.

"Norman Hall picked him out," James said. "We've been buying horses like that for years and we were going to get this horse no matter how much he went for."

Coleman took over the training duties when the colt was a sophomore in 2014 and McWicked rose to the top of his division. hoped she would have the opportunity to train McWicked in 2019. James was more than happy to oblige her and had his own reasons for not sending the stallion off to stud.

"I bought the horse to race," James said in March of 2017. "I never got in this business to make money.

I worked and still run my business (SSG Gloves) primarily by myself. I don't take partners on horses because I like to control my own fate.

"I'm 87 years old and by the time I could watch his foals race I would be 92 and, let's face it, I might not be here then. Horses like this don't come around very often; some people never get one and I don't have another lifetime to find another one. And they never put periscopes in caskets."

Settled early, easy run to lane, angled between rivals late, urged, up. Another good post. Confidence builder?

IN FOR THE CHASE

Moved out on rim, never really covered, kept grinding, urged 2nd best. Drops notch, inside. Figures strongly.

CRASH AND BURN

Rode cones to 3/4s, angled out, urged to save show slot. Might be coming around a bit.

MYSTERY DRAGON

Pushed leaving, back out into final bend, sped right by the fave, some urging to score blazing win. Chip Lackey steers.

MORTGAGE MY VILLA

First out well before half, alongside winner balance, almost. Facing a tougher bunch now. One of many.

LINCOLN

Moved from back 3rd over far turn, came wide, solid rally to save show slot. Luke returns. Plan here?

CONTEMPORAY LEGEND

Cover near half, not a good lead up, had to go wide, urged, stalled a bit. Exits much tougher group. Beware.

FLY AWAY

Out near half, covered to the lane, fair near wire. Has speed to fire out. Does he?

Race 11 News

After making her 2019 qualifying debut last week, Shartin N made a statement with her second qualifying effort of the season last Thursday (February 21) at Dover Downs.

With regular pilot Tim Tetrick in tow, Shartin sat third in a group of six and allowed older pacer Major Uptrend (Tony Morgan) to carve out preliminary fractions of :28.4 and :57.1. Tetrick then sent the six-year-old mare to pressure the pacesetter, advancing first over while just a half-length off the lead at the 1:25.1 third station. Shartin then unleashed a wicked final fraction of :26.4 to open up an eight-length lead at the head of the stretch that widened to more than 13 at the wire. The mile was timed in 1:52.

"She was super," Tetrick told Trot Insider after the qualifier. "Qualified as good as could be. Super happy with her."
