Cory Stratton is 'enjoying the ride' with his own stable

by Ken Weingartner

Cory Stratton will be in the sulky Saturday (March 16) at Meadowlands Racetrack, but it is a seat he plans to take less often as he focuses on building his own training stable.

The 26-year-old Stratton, the younger brother of driver Jordan Stratton, started his barn in 2018 after spending several years helping manage other stables and working for other trainers. He has 10 horses and is based at the Mark Ford Training Center, not far from his Middletown, N.Y., home.

Stratton was the Monticello-Goshen chapter of the U.S. Harness Writers Association's Amateur Driver of the Year in 2010 and its Rising Star Award winner in 2012. He was driving at Monticello Raceway

ULYSSES BLUE CHIP
Tucked into turn, tracked to lane, urged, fair. Obviously post relief will help. Gotta use in gimmicks.

GENERAL TIME
Left to drop, soft trip to far turn, angled out, urged, much best of the rest. Racing okay last few starts. One more player.

LAISSEZMOIPICOLER
Reserved early, 1st out near half, rimmed balance, faded from the skirmish. In a pretty good spot. Slim call in open event.

WINONEFORDOUG
Parked eighth, released to winner's retake, tracked, weakened. Adds Gene. Speedy but staying power questionable.

MCCEDDES
Out turn one to lead, released, tracked, tired. Extra week off. Class relief makes him a consideration.

CENALTA ECLIPSE
No hurry early, 1st over past half, didn't make much headway. Steve's choice over 2 others. Plan from outside?

ROCKET POWER
Out past half, cover into far turn, stalled suddenly. Outside again after skipping a week. Adds Gerry.

"I enjoy driving, but it came down to turning down more horses or giving up Monticello," Stratton said. "I just enjoy training more. I enjoy working with them all week and when they do well you know you've accomplished something. It's nice to see your horses do good."

Stratton was working for trainer Travis Alexander when he decided to branch out. Another conditioner, Peter Tritton, helped Stratton get started by recommending him to an owner that had asked Tritton to train one of his pacing mares.

"I didn't want to extend my stable," Tritton said. "I said (Stratton) would do a really good job. He's a hard worker. I know he's got ability. I told people I think he's worth a chance. He's young and keen and he

The 7-year-old mare sent to Stratton, Best Of Jenna, won eight of 25 races with him last season and has added two more victories this year.

"She's kind of a nice mare," said Indiana's Jacob Graber, who helped his son, Mark, find Best Of Jenna's new trainer.

I'm hands on, I work with the horses every day. I race them where they can win, in the right conditions. I'm not afraid to ship them around if I have to. If they're not racing good somewhere, I'm not afraid to take them somewhere else and freshen up their attitude. I'm not afraid to try things."

"When my dad (retired Hall of Fame trainer Jimmy Takter) called, he said, 'Get ready for a new horse in your barn,'" said Johansson. "He said to begin preparing because the horse was on the way and then he said, 'Oh, the horse is Manchego.'"

It was announced shortly after her seventh-place finish in the $500,000 Breeders Crown on Oct. 27, 2018, at The Downs at Mohegan Sun Pocono, that Manchego would be retired to become a

Individual Recap Last Race Footnotes

BLUE STAR JET
 Moved out past quarter, kicked 3wide into far turn, remained wide whole bend, finally faded out. Post relief a big plus for this guy. Must use.

CRASH AND BURN

BURNTISLAND BILLY
 Flew to top, yielded to winner's retake past quarter, stalked, urged, much best of the rest. Back inside. Mild hike, user though.

BEST DREAM SEEKER
 Left well, easy run the balance, some last bend traffic, cleared, only fair late stages. James returns. Another thought.

LINCOLN
 Far back early, rail rider to the lane. No chance under pace/position scenario. Drops, Luke's choice. Player.

WET SHARK
 Sat in the trip, heavy traffic final quarter, had some pace. Negative post switch. Likely a low price, and will need fortuitous trip.

CENALTA DIESEL
 Left, quarter moved back, attacked fare turn, gave way grudgingly. Outside now. Not the worst price stab in here.
